

Application Layer

HTTP

Facilitates communication for network services and user applications over networks.

Internet Layer

IP

Routes packets across network boundaries, enabling data communication between hosts.

Transport Layer

TCP/UDP

Manages data transmission, error checking, and packet sequencing.

Link Layer

802.11

Handles hardware interfacing, error detection/correction, and physical data transmission.